Leamington Spa Warwickshire

When first commissioning the designs for our extension, we asked a number of architects to come to talk to us. We were immediately impressed by Roland's ability to listen to us and understand the brief. Equally, he did not slavishly follow our bad ideas. It was genuinely a combined effort.

The pricing structure was clear from the outset and fair.

We spent a long time going over the initial designs and were probably quite demanding clients. However, we were grateful for Roland's patience. He was always ready with helpful proposals and clearly embraced new technologies.

Ultimately, we are absolutely delighted with our new extension. We feel that it not only works perfectly as a "living space", but also complements the aesthetic and structural integrity of our Victorian gothic house. We are so pleased that we avoided a pastiche or anything with jarred.

We do –and have already to several friends- recommend Lloyd-Thomas Architects without reservation.
