Lloyd Thomas Architects

We worked with Lloyd-Thomas Architects on an ambitious barn extension initiated in 2008.

The project presented difficult and unique challenges as the request was to add a strikingly modern wing onto a traditional converted stable. During the initial creative discussions, I found them great to bounce ideas off, and always flexible and open minded to help realise the ultimate home we wanted to create.

Lloyd Thomas Architects handled the planning stage with great skill and sympathy communicating brilliantly with the somewhat conservative local planning authority, and I am still surprised that we were allowed to build exactly what we wanted.

Now that the build is complete and we have had a chance to live with our conversion, I can confirm that it has been very successful and fully met all of our expectations.

Speaking as a designer myself, if you want any architectural work that is well considered, elegantly balanced, contemporary and with great attention to detail I would recommend Lloyd Thomas Architects.
